Mood Boards

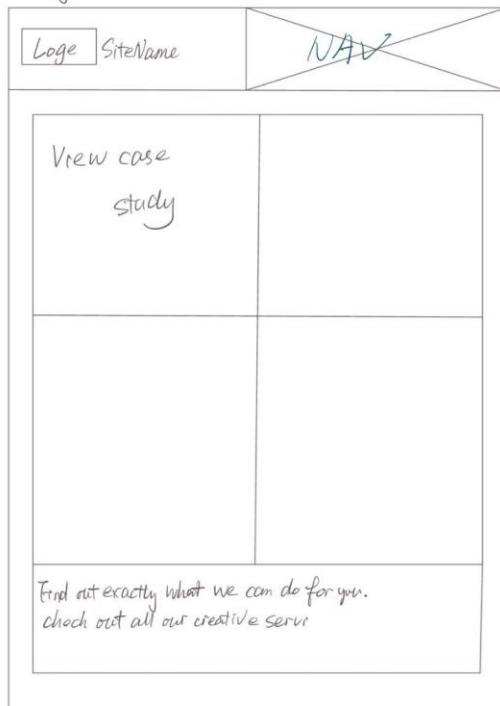

Based on the first version I made a slight adjustment, changing the color and font style. Make the final style look simple and coordinated.

Branding

Since the purpose of web design page, branding page and UI/UX design page is to show the company's products to customers, I have designed them with the same layout to maintain the consistency of the website.

Prototypes

Three types of Navbar:

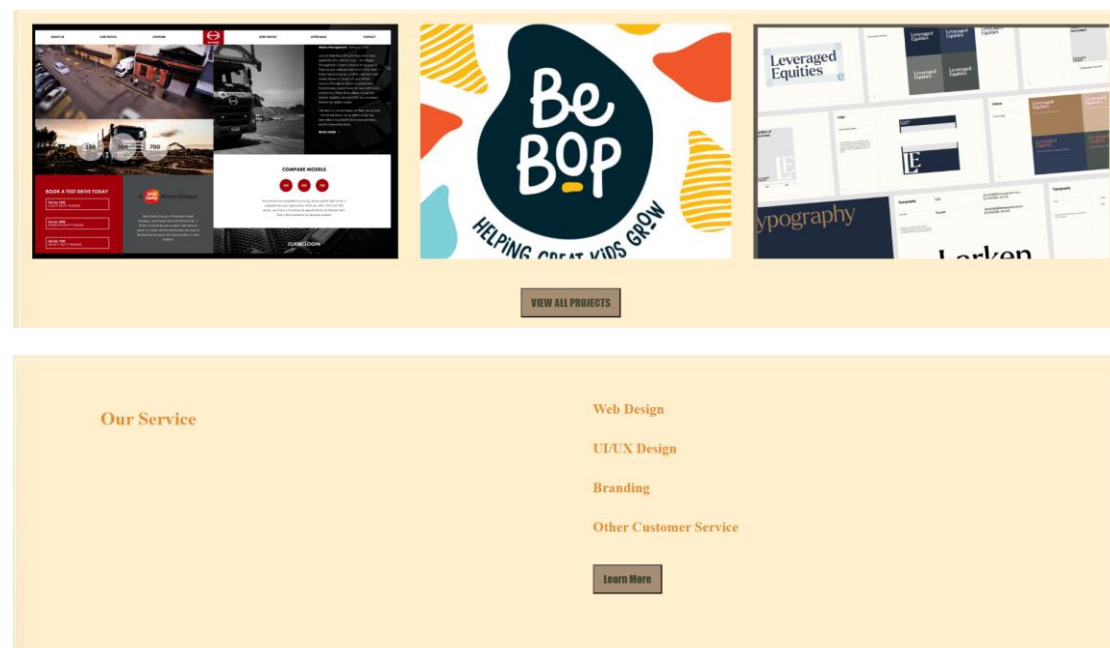

This is my last Navbar where I added the logo and tweaked the color a little bit. I added a line on the company name, and if click on it, it takes user back to a homepage.

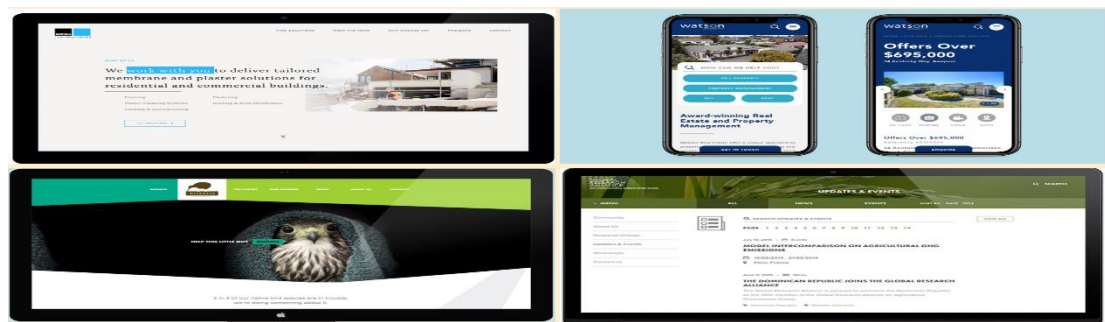

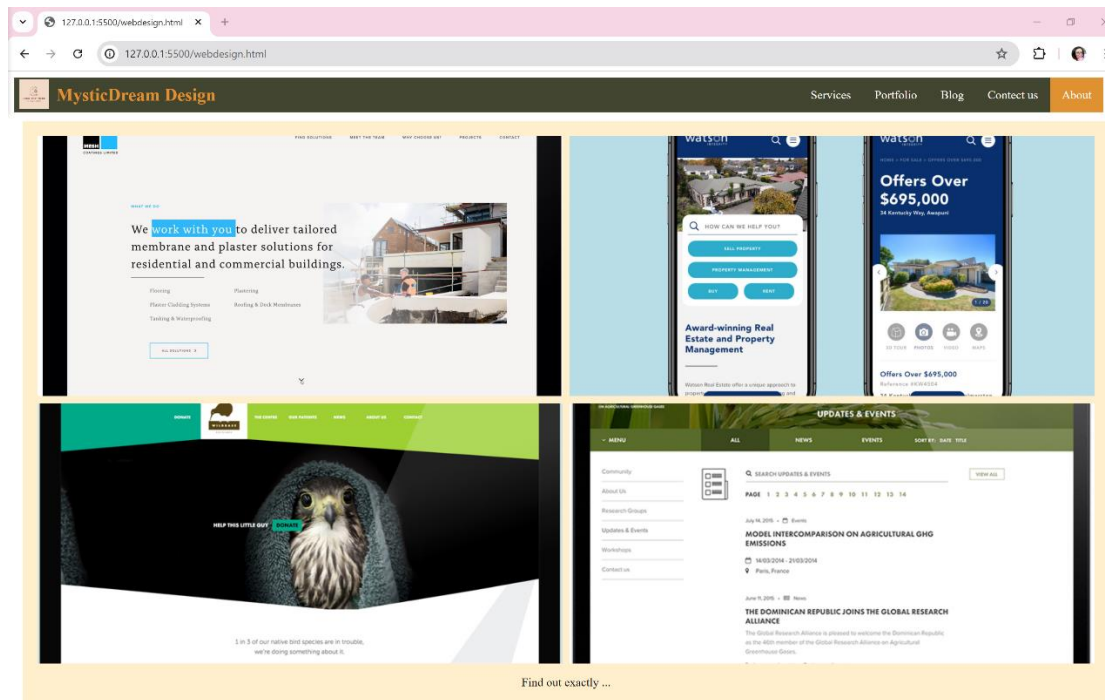

Tests

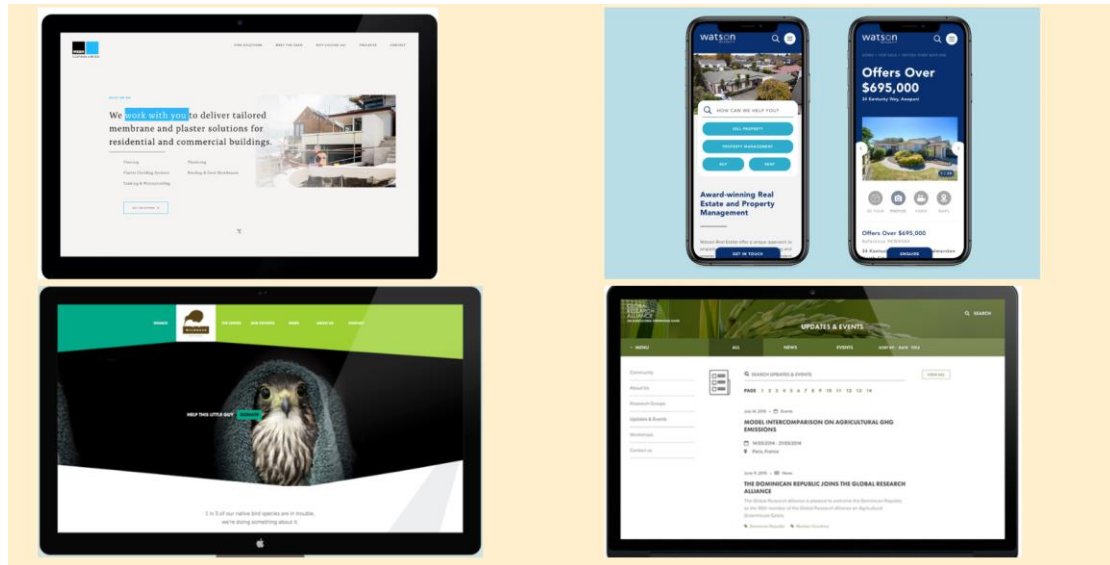

This is the first version of my homepage, the page distribution is in line with my requirements, but the details need to be adjusted again.

我调整了图片的位置，让它们分布均匀。这个 botten 的设计更加符合整体的展示。

Since the images I used were downloaded from the Internet or taken screenshots, this made debugging difficult. At this stage, due to the influence of technology, I try to coordinate as much as possible. I believe that with the corresponding pictures in the future, the whole will look more coordinated.

I tried many times on team page, and I wasn't very happy with the final version, but it was the most satisfied version I got after many attempts.

I was so involved in debugging that I forgot to record the screenshots. Let me just describe the whole process. At first, I got a relatively narrow version, but after debugging, the final size seems to be balanced.

Summary

In the whole process of designing the website, I learned a lot of html and css knowledge, although I can generally complete part of the website structure, but I also understand that if you really want to complete a website needs a lot of knowledge to cooperate with each other. However, at this stage, I am still relatively satisfied with the final version, and I believe it will be better improved if more knowledge is accumulated in the future
